

Prudentia Fomban, known as Belvictor, is currently working as a Social Worker in Children Service in Derbyshire County Council. She holds a BA in International Business Strategy, MA in Leadership and Management in Health and Social Care and MA in Social Work. She is a registered member of Health and Care Professional Council in England.

Since 2008, she has been working in the field of Social Care. For the past three years, she has been working as a Social Inclusion worker. This has provided her with the opportunity to understand the emotional and physical impacts of social isolation to the lives of the deprived ones. She has a very strong passion in making a difference in the lives of the vulnerable ones thus giving them a second chance in life. She is also a strong ambassador of equality and diversity which is fundamental when dealing with people.
